SUMMARY

I'm a dedicated and curious developer currently pursuing my engineering degree at Guru Nanak Institute of Technology. My primary focus lies in Full-Stack Development, with a strong inclination toward the MERN (MongoDB, Express.js, React.js, Node.js) stack.

Over time, I've honed my skills by building dynamic web applications, contributing to team projects, and constantly exploring the latest in tech. Whether it's front-end interfaces or back-end logic, I enjoy solving problems and bringing ideas to life through clean, scalable code.

Always eager to learn, collaborate, and grow—I'm currently looking for opportunities to intern, contribute to open source, or join exciting projects that push my skills further.
